

BEE In Black & White

Preparing for a BEE rating – Framework for Verification

Breakfast BEE presentation

Presented by: EconoBEE in conjunction with Routledge Modise in association with Eversheds

The dti has now released its verification guide to BEE – this is a manual that explains exactly how your verification agency must approach BEE verification, and it clearly shows what you, as the client, need to do in order to achieve the BEE points you deserve.

One key point is that you must supply proof and evidence of all BEE activities in order to earn points. Anything less and your verification agency cannot award you points.

Routledge Modise in association with Eversheds, in conjunction with EconoBEE, will be hosting a morning briefing at Routledge's offices explaining the new regulations and how they will affect your BEE score and how you should go about preparing for a rating.

- Venue: Auditorium – Routledge Modise in association with Eversheds, 22 Fredman Drive, Sandton
- Date: Thursday, 14 August 2008
- Time: 07h30 for 08h00 to 11h30 (breakfast will be served)
- Cost: R850 per person (incl. VAT)
Handouts, including a CD containing all the codes and the latest regulations, will be supplied
- Speakers: Keith Levenstein – CEO, EconoBEE
Peter Kemp – Director, Routledge Modise in association with Eversheds
Andre Kruger – Consultant
- Who should attend: CEOs, Financial and HR Directors, Transformation Directors and anyone concerned with improving their BEE scorecard
